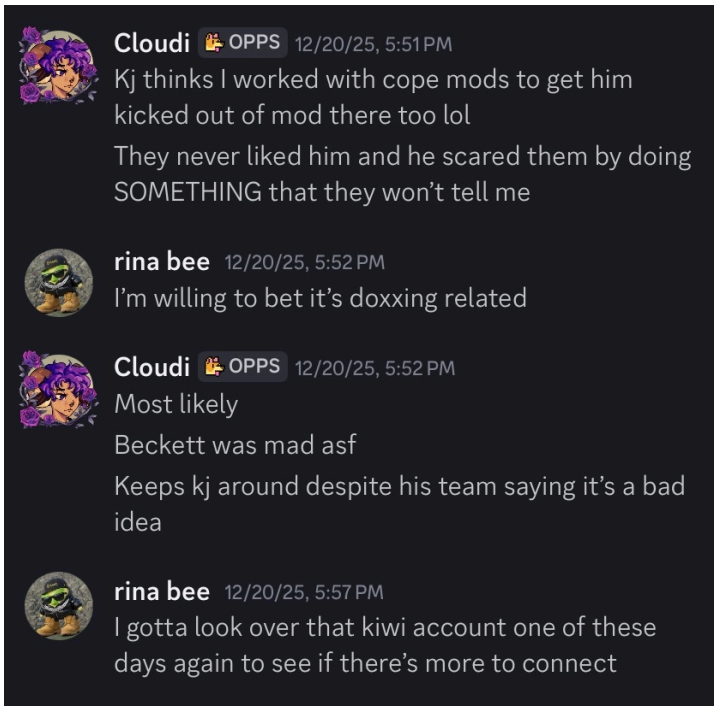
My Response

This statement isn't for excuses, just accountability for what I've done and how I hurt many people. I want to make it clear that most of these issues are my fault and to apologize.

I have not purposely gone to creators and told them that KJ is a doxxer, a bad worker or purposely tried to get him demodded elsewhere.

However I will explain and apologize for how me even talking about this story and dming Rina every single mean catty complaint ever could have still gotten out and hurt his and others job opportunities.
I only told one of the cope and seethe staff that I was demodding him since we shared closer communities but it was not a bid for them to get him removed there as well.

So in this screen shot



Cloudi OPPS 12/20/25, 5:51 PM
Kj thinks I worked with cope mods to get him kicked out of mod there too lol
They never liked him and he scared them by doing SOMETHING that they won't tell me
rina bee 12/20/25, 5:52 PM
I'm willing to bet it's doxxing related
Cloudi OPPS 12/20/25, 5:52 PM
Most likely
Beckett was mad asf
Keeps kj around despite his team saying it's a bad idea
rina bee 12/20/25, 5:57 PM
I gotta look over that kiwi account one of these days again to see if there's more to connect

I am talking about what could be so bad if he got de modded. Beckett's hard line is doxxing. As I say in the screen shot I do ask but wasn't told. I just assumed. This was my mistake and it looks terrible because I'm being bitchy on purpose and I am sorry.

The conversation literally moves on after.

I need to stress that my DMs with rina were always meant to stay private and while that's no excuse for my behavior, unless screenshots of me venting and being upset were shared to creators, I did not purposely go to creators to get Killjoy or Ash fired or kept from work.

When it comes to Mrow, I was told behind the scenes he was someone to be kept away from because of his behavior which is why I asked to have his fugis kept off of OPPstreams. The shitters were in chat but I could have communicated what I was told as well and I just didn't.

My vents and insane overbearing whining were just supposed to stay with Rina but I have no idea if she took the times I complained about the group or channel issues to other people. I have not seen any proof of it but I did not personally go to creators and tell people not to work with them and I didn't ask rina to go to anyone to do that either. The censored logs are out in the public

https://slugyt.substack.com/p/the-falgigations-the-opp-block-saga

Either way I'm incredibly regretful of my actions, I may have been hurt or hurt in the past but if I couldn't handle it I should have just completely backed off and let someone else handle things.

I thought my vents and thoughts would stay with the people I told but there was no way to ever make sure of that and I am deeply sorry, I handled things incredibly poorly and immaturely.
I told people outside of the situation that were close to me to either vent or determine what was true or not but I was still angry and I can imagine how that came off especially without me saying I've been corrected about the kiwileak later on. I'm incredibly sorry and there's nothing I can do to take it back.

Interpersonal Drama/Makari situation

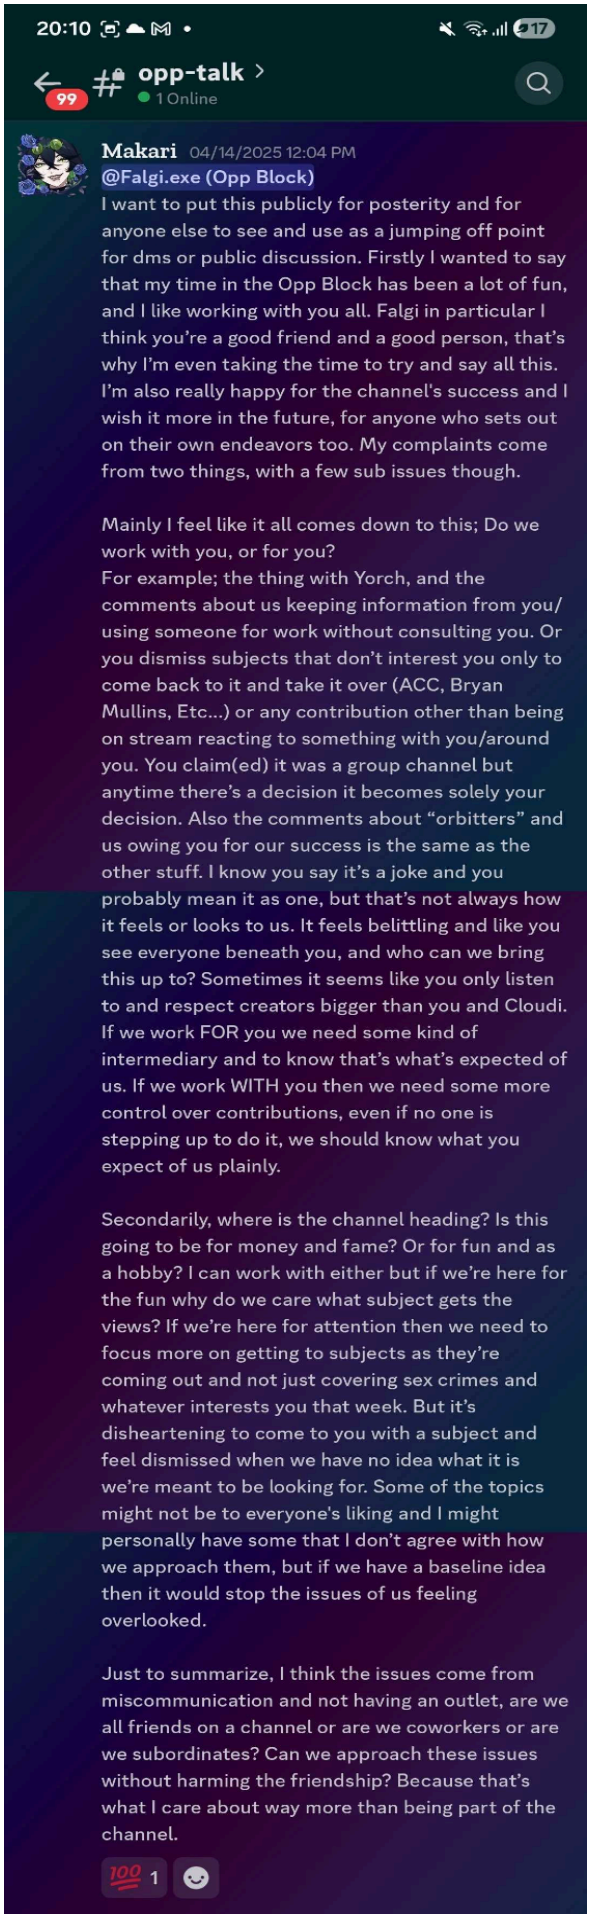
I feel as if I do need to explain the interpersonal drama to apologize for everything else. I will try to shorten it as much as I can.

I had a server named Touch Grass Anonymous. It started as a friend gaming server and became an oppblock research server over time. During March 2025 there was some tension in the group with how the Falgi was leading the channel, scheduling times, what stories were being run, ignoring uploads etc. During the month the "Cloudi HR" joke started because it fell on to me, Falgis partner, to talk to him about smaller issues I would be told about.

A lot of the things I'm going to discuss were done in voice chats so all I have, if anything, are screenshots of after calls happening.

On the 6th of April I was made aware of a kiwifarms leak in the Touch Grass server from Saint and I got very paranoid and panicked about it. It wasn't so much what was leaked but that there was a leak at all. There is very sensitive information in the server and I got incredibly paranoid about anything anyone does or says in the group. I didn't tell anyone because I genuinely had no idea who it could have been.

On the 14th of April a large text post was dropped in the research server by Makari.



20:10
17
99
opp-talk
1 Online
Makari 04/14/2025 12:04 PM
@Falgi.exe (Opp Block)
I want to put this publicly for posterity and for anyone else to see and use as a jumping off point for dms or public discussion. Firstly I wanted to say that my time in the Opp Block has been a lot of fun, and I like working with you all. Falgi in particular I think you're a good friend and a good person, that's why I'm even taking the time to try and say all this. I'm also really happy for the channel's success and I wish it more in the future, for anyone who sets out on their own endeavors too. My complaints come from two things, with a few sub issues though.
Mainly I feel like it all comes down to this; Do we work with you, or for you?
For example; the thing with Yorch, and the comments about us keeping information from you/ using someone for work without consulting you. Or you dismiss subjects that don't interest you only to come back to it and take it over (ACC, Bryan Mullins, Etc...) or any contribution other than being on stream reacting to something with you/around you. You claim(ed) it was a group channel but anytime there's a decision it becomes solely your decision. Also the comments about "orbitters" and us owing you for our success is the same as the other stuff. I know you say it's a joke and you probably mean it as one, but that's not always how it feels or looks to us. It feels belittling and like you see everyone beneath you, and who can we bring this up to? Sometimes it seems like you only listen to and respect creators bigger than you and Cloudi. If we work FOR you we need some kind of intermediary and to know that's what's expected of us. If we work WITH you then we need some more control over contributions, even if no one is stepping up to do it, we should know what you expect of us plainly.
Secondarily, where is the channel heading? Is this going to be for money and fame? Or for fun and as a hobby? I can work with either but if we're here for the fun why do we care what subject gets the views? If we're here for attention then we need to focus more on getting to subjects as they're coming out and not just covering sex crimes and whatever interests you that week. But it's disheartening to come to you with a subject and feel dismissed when we have no idea what it is we're meant to be looking for. Some of the topics might not be to everyone's liking and I might personally have some that I don't agree with how we approach them, but if we have a baseline idea then it would stop the issues of us feeling overlooked.
Just to summarize, I think the issues come from miscommunication and not having an outlet, are we all friends on a channel or are we coworkers or are we subordinates? Can we approach these issues without harming the friendship? Because that's what I care about way more than being part of the channel.
1

Summary is that the group has some grievances and there is confusion on where the channel is heading and if it's meant to be taken more seriously or not.

It was dropped late at night and after a small back and forth we rested it until morning to talk.

The morning call I feel was productive but the whole group couldn't attend as far so there was a plan for later on in the same day to have a big call with all of us.

Later the same day diesel reaches out to me about needing to talk to the whole group about the text post and I tell him in the call about the kiwifarms leak. He tells me Makari told him already about it and that they were blaming me or Falgi. We brainstormed about it being makari but we have no proof. I said stupid things in that call too for no reason other than grasping at straws to connect Makari to the account.
The talk about the long post with the entire server still needs to happen so we just wait until after that day's oppblock stream.

I do not have a copy of this call nor can I remember everything about it. I will try to summarize what I remember.

That night after the stream the whole research server is on call with diesel and from what I can remember diesel explains makaris points in their paragraph calmly ultimately saying that its a group channel but since Falgi is the face and owns the channel that anything falls back to the channel falls back to him. I am talking to diesel in dms asking if the kiwi leak should come up. The leak is brought up. I get emotional when diesel says it's makari accusing me. I remember there's a back and forth on why she didn't bring it up sooner since she knew before I did and Falgi tells her she can't be a part of the channel any more. I know diesel says some things about not wanting to be around someone who talks like the account. I can't remember how the call ended.

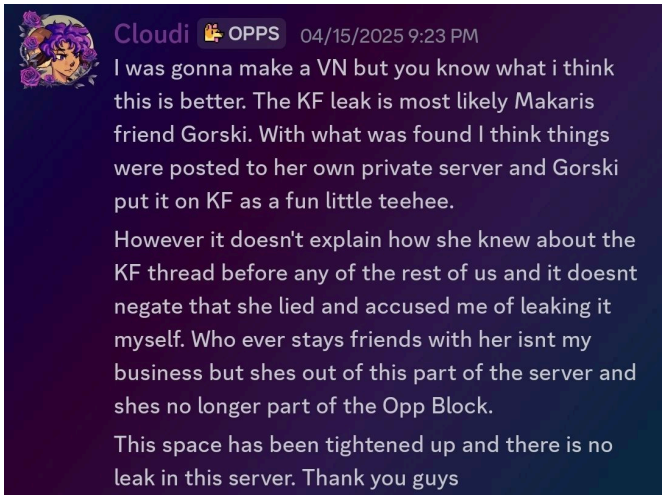
I know there was a chat after the makari firing of KJ looking into the account right after but I did end up going to bed.

Next morning I sit with Killjoy looking over the kiwi account to see if anything matches anything, Q joins and I say that I know Makari had a server, could he please look for the leaked information to see if it was forwarded or something. Q looks over 2 of Makaris' servers and says he sees the leak from Makaris' friend. I ask if he's sure and he says yes.

I do not remember there being a screen share. I do not remember seeing it with my own eyes and MY mistake was made when I didn't ask for a screenshot to show as proof for everyone else. That is my fault. I take full blame for not asking. It was incredibly stupid of me. I should have made sure that there was proof not just for myself but for everyone in the server.

I dont have any excuse for it and Im sorry cause this choice hurt people. It’s my fault I couldn’t remember and it stuck in my head that I never saw anything but I literally didn't do the bare minimum of trying to prove something.

Still, he said he saw it and I made this post in the research server after



Cloudi
OPPS
04/15/2025 9:23 PM
I was gonna make a VN but you know what i think this is better. The KF leak is most likely Makaris friend Gorski. With what was found I think things were posted to her own private server and Gorski put it on KF as a fun little teehee.
However it doesn't explain how she knew about the KF thread before any of the rest of us and it doesnt negate that she lied and accused me of leaking it myself. Who ever stays friends with her isnt my business but shes out of this part of the server and shes no longer part of the Opp Block.
This space has been tightened up and there is no leak in this server. Thank you guys Afterwards I say that while that is done it does not explain the weird interpersonal stuff going on with Falgi and I getting ignored or dismissed a lot. The call is Killjoy Ash and Q and myself and through tears I was told that in Makari's server they would sit around and talk shit about Falgi. I am told that encouraging channel work was me pushing people away and that I was expecting too much. I remember saying that it was okay and I'm sorry but it hurt really bad and frankly I never ever got over it.

I got increasingly paranoid, snippy and mean and I was venting and telling Rina any complaint I had about anything. It was obsessive and gross behavior. Beyond just being a mean girl. As I said earlier, if I couldn't handle it any more I should have stepped completely back but I didn't.

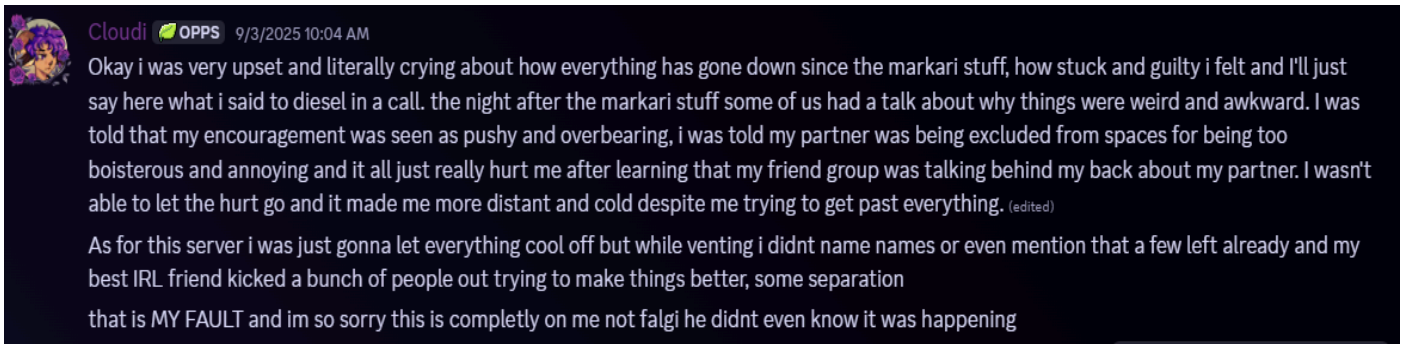
I tried to help where I could and I managed the OPP discord. I did mention in random VCs that I was going to adjust roles, mods and perms and give everyone their own channel roles so they didn't have to feel obligated to do more than they wanted. I thought I had a green light but clearly I didn't communicate it well.

The firing mod call happens and I stand by it being a BAD call. It was terribly handled. I know there’s DMs where I say it was fine but it really wasn’t. It was terrible and I was just being stubborn.

The earlier shit talking of Falgi is why I have an attitude about Ash working for Malcolm, I was paranoid of it all happening again and I felt lied to but I didn't clarify. I could have done more and I took it out on them instead.

When Q asks me if there's anything he can do I immediately say no cause I have the memory of him in tears telling me that me just encouraging his own channel made him feel like I was pushing him away. I didn't want to make it worse but I wasn't kind about it.

I thought I was genuinely trying to make things easier and give them more freedom but after everything that happened it just became a cut off firing call and I do take a lot of the brunt of that. I should have been better at explaining things or just asking what was needed. I ran with my feelings and that was incredibly childish.
People leave the opp discord, not kicked, and I give a very brief explanation to the current oppmods keeping the focus on my fuck ups, that includes a few days later when my real life friend who used to own the research server with me kicked anyone they didnt reconise out of it. Making fresh wounds by pure accident cause she mistook me being very emotional as needing to make space. I apologize and re invite folks and I give the server to Falgi and strip any power I had in it and asked my friend to leave it.



Cloudi OPPS 9/3/2025 10:04 AM

Okay i was very upset and literally crying about how everything has gone down since the markari stuff, how stuck and guilty i felt and I'll just say here what i said to diesel in a call. the night after the markari stuff some of us had a talk about why things were weird and awkward. I was told that my encouragement was seen as pushy and overbearing, i was told my partner was being excluded from spaces for being too boisterous and annoying and it all just really hurt me after learning that my friend group was talking behind my back about my partner. I wasn't able to let the hurt go and it made me more distant and cold despite me trying to get past everything. (edited)

As for this server i was just gonna let everything cool off but while venting i didnt name names or even mention that a few left already and my best IRL friend kicked a bunch of people out trying to make things better, some separation that is MY FAULT and im so sorry this is completly on me not falgi he didnt even know it was happening

8:29
general
9 Online
know it was happening
/3/25, 10:13 AM
I'm the friend, yeah I fucked up. I hate seeing my friends upset and I figured this was originally just a space for us as close friends to hang out and chill so without really saying anything or thinking about it I figured I'd just turn it back into that. Just to kinda cut the drama out but that was a major misjudgment on my part. I didn't realize that people used this server for work and projects and just kinda jumped the gun and I apologize. This turned more into a shit show than I intended it to.
Again I'm sorry for any chaos or disruption I may have caused.
Falgi.exe (Opp Block) OPPS 9/3/25, 10:19 AM
I am going to be reintiving people to the server. I'm incredibly upset with the actions that have taken place because I did not want this at all. I'm so incredibly hurt.
Cloudi OPPS 9/3/25, 10:19 AM
I didnt either but the blame is on me also to be transparent she cant kick or anything any one from here so whover needs to do whatever can Message #gene...

mods
Cloudi OPPS 9/3/25, 11:31 AM just to be transparent there was a blow up in the personal server that was 100 percent my fault. so thats what happened the most i can say is a third party made an incredibly bad decision for us and it wasnt what we wanted but it still hurt both parties. (edited)
Cloudi OPPS 9/3/25, 12:43 PM
I don't think it'll cause any public issues but we can only wait and see
Again thank you guys

I have never discouraged any of the oppmods to stop talking to anyone but I understand the awkwardness of a situation would make a divide. I take fault for that as well.

Apologies

I never wanted any of this to be content but I needed to be very clear about why I became so grossly hostile and bitchy. It was MY inability to communicate clearly. Most of these situations can be told as me not handling my emotions when I feel slighted and then I can't let go.

That doesn't excuse any of it. I'm embarrassed and regretful but that is nothing in comparison to the hurt and misery I caused. The obsessiveness, picking on every little thing, the paranoia,assuming the worst, asking rina to pick on people, screenshotting private shit that had nothing to do with anything all so I could try and soothe my hurt feelings and ego. Talking about things that wasn't mine to talk about and incredibly unhinged gross behavior.

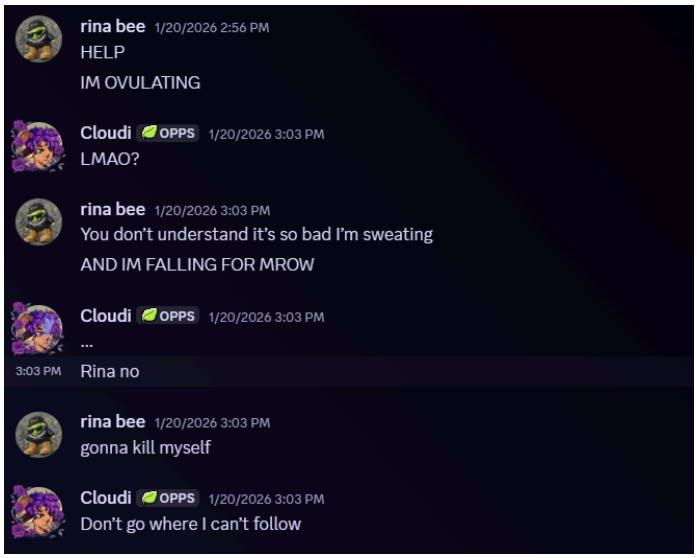
It hurt the community, it hurt creators, it hurt people I called friends and it hurt my partner and his opportunities and there are no words that can express how deeply sorry I am.

Falgi was unaware of how I would speak to Rina and we do not read each other's DMs.
I was aware of the sexting just not the contents of it cause I do not read or check my partners phones.

I have been in open/polyamous relationships for a long time. My boundaries are different and I never hid that. I wont be discussing Falgi's private life and it's disheartening that it came out at all.

Rina
She wasn't a fan, she was a friend of mine. The logs go back 3 years. We talked in dms, vcs etc about anything and everything. I planned to meet up and all. I didn't want her life, business and her husband to be public either but what's done is done.

I did not try to sexually sell her to Falgi. Rina came to me when she wanted to sext Mrow and wanted me to stop her and I was just saying anything stupid to make her laugh. I even talk about how I also have hooked up with losers. I talk crassly with her. It was supposed to stay private but it's still terrible to do. I talk about saint cause they had a flirt joke going on at the time and again I was just trying to cheer her up.
I say I'd rather be a weird step mom then let mrow win cause it is not a secret that even beyond the fugis I do not like mrow and he knows that as well.



The "mommy" thing is something she started calling me as a joke, I've done it back, I've had other people call me it. I dont personally care but if its being used as a way to prove im trying to use her for kink then its just not true.

From the oppserver.

I have asked Rina to drop screenshots in public threads in the opphouse for me. The same has been asked of me by others so they don't get outed in spaces they're in. It was part of the content.

What wasn't okay for me to do was asking her to do or say specific things to just regular people cause I wanted to be mean cause I was mad.
It was wrong and I am sorry. There's nothing I can do to take it back.
I was a bitter jealous asshole in her dms and I said a lot of mean awful things.
If Rina leaked or she said what I said to other creators or chatters I have no knowledge or proof of it.

Either way it's terrible behavior and it wouldn't have mattered if she leaked if I wasn't speaking in such a disgusting way. Even as closer friends I was constantly negative and bitchy and mean and there's just no excuse for me to act like that.

Kj

I was absolutely terrible to you and there's actually no words that can convey how sorry I am. It was brought to my attention by the person who showed the kiwileak in the first place that you could have been the leak and it made me hostile. I felt guilty about blaming makari and instead of asking or doing anything rational to handle it I just became bitter and upset. I did have 2 different people Rina, and someone in my real life go over things and both told me there was no proof it's you. I do not think it's you but I can see in the Rina dms that I didn't make sure to say it's been corrected or that I don't think it's you. I didn't tell opp mods, random chatters or creators.
It doesn't matter because the correction did not come out with it and for that I am sorry. I wasn't careful with Rina or others at all.
I was so angry and bitter there was really nothing else you could have done and I should have just walked away and I didn't. You did try hard to connect to me but I didn't even try to accept it. It hurt you and yours and I'm sorry.

Ash
I was so convinced that you told me you weren't working for Malcolm that instead of asking again or clarifying I acted like an insane person. My fear of all the makari/leak stuff was so strong I let it ruin the good you did, assume lies and I acted like a huge bitch. I did not go to other creators to stop you but I see how my attitude was terrible. I whined to Rina like a child instead of trying to communicate more and said horrible things about you to her.
I was angry about so much and that included Sai cause when it all blew up I felt like only Falgi was getting the brunt of it and I was upset for him too. Still no excuse. It was mean in a way no one deserves. None of that was your fault at all and I am sorry.

Q
I blamed you for Makari for a long time cause I couldn't remember seeing into the discord and seeing proof of the leak myself. If I had just ASKED for a screen shot for all of us then a lot of this could have been avoided. I am the one that did not ask and I ran with my own shitty assumptions cause I could not remember and there's nothing I can say to take any of the horrible things I've said back.
I thought you lied to me and with some of the other interpersonal stuff I just got nasty and mean but nothing was so bad to ever warrant how I acted. I implied terrible things about you and I deeply regret it. These were MY hang ups and I'm incredibly sorry. I hurt you for no reason just cause I couldn't handle myself and I don't have enough words to apologize but I am sorry.

Diesel

You brought me around and expected better of me and I'm sorry to not only be a disappointment, but to act like you never showed me kindness or deserved communication as well. I hurt you and your friends and I acted like a huge bitch. No matter what had happened to me I will say again that I should have just backed off until I was okay or just left if I couldn't get over it. I threw it all back in your face and I'm sorry.

Makari

I want to make it clear that I should have seen proof that it was your friend or tried harder to talk to you. I didn't at first cause I was hurt and stubborn. I'm so sorry I didn't do better and while I know you accepted my first apology I am doing it again. I'm sorry.

Liv

I didn't like some interpersonal things that happened. That's no excuse for how I treated you. I was being a mean girl and I regret it. I should have just blocked and moved on. Not let others get at you for me. That was psychotic and unwell behavior. I am really sorry.
Also I will always stand by that the Phara situation should have focused on him and not you. When I last went over it I reminded people that he was literally collecting doxxes and all anyone remembers is the joke. Not even that he's the one that lied about liking/wanting it. I am sorry you didn't deserve more cruelty than you had already gotten.

Lio

I'm incredibly sorry for talking about your business to someone I knew disliked you very much. I don't have a reason or excuse. I'm just sorry, it wasn't okay. You've only shown me kindness and didn't ask for anything but that back and I didn't do that. I'm sorry.

Hidden

I'm incredibly embarrassed with how I acted with you. Even if I thought you were making people watch illegal content for research, it's no excuse. Like with Lio I didn't have to vent to someone who already didn't like you and rile her up and I'm really sorry how stressful everything was even with the other dramas going on and mocking your stress. With everything that happened on your end you didn't deserve this and I am sorry.

Potato

I am sorry. I was upset because I thought you were helping people who were watching the illegal stuff. The actual mod call WAS about mod abuse. But nothing so bad that I should make fun of such a soft moment. I was being cruel and mean because I was mad about something which I didn't even tell rina. I cried after that call too. I didn't dm, talk, reach out or anything and I was just being a bitch and I am sorry. I didnt act like a friend and you never ever deserved that.

Vlad m1
I am sorry for hurting you and her. My speculation on what was or wasn't a lie was unwarranted. I did explain that the dm/chat about M1 looks terrible and it IS. I can talk about everything I had going on in that moment across multiple servers but I ultimately sold M1 and didn't care about her feelings. I dangled and baited better drama by talking to Rina and saying there's something better if she left M1 alone. Rina and I were already butting heads and I was just saying anything to get her to listen to me and to stop fighting chatters but ultimately a real person got hurt and attacked and there is NO excuse for it. I didn't even warn M1 that if she swung people would swing back. I talk about her like she's a pet or something and it's gross.

I can only apologize but it'll never be enough and I regret it terribly. I am sorry.

This is much less serious but I still want to talk about it. I had an argument with Vlad over optics and I was incredibly stupid in said argument cause I misinterpreted what he said and I thought he meant it was good to even be honest about things that could get you doxxed or could out where you work. I lost my cool and just started whining about it instead of backing off and just asking what he meant. I'm sorry for that too.

Zaint
I'm sorry for calling you autistic when you were completely right about everything all along. I am sorry.

Community

I shit talked random chatters out of annoyance or to try and be funny and either way it wasn't okay. No one deserved that at all these are MY hang ups and MY issues, not anyone else.
No one made me be in charge of the discord and I should have gotten someone else to be in charge if I felt like it was too much. It was just plain mean to people who didn't deserve it at all and I am sorry to all of you.

I also should have never had someone on my mod team who would fight people let alone shit talk, and I NEVER should have gone along and/or started it too. I am very sorry it didn't matter we were friends, Rina didn't even want to be mod so this is my fault entirely.

I really did have a good time and you are all wonderful and I fucked that up. Completely. I betrayed trust and I can never apologize enough for it.

I made my bed and hurt lots of people in commentary because I couldn't let go. I hurt people who only ever tried to make room for me but I choose to stay paranoid and upset. I am sorry.
I was incredibly gross, bitter and jealous of people and I was too stubborn and childish to just let go and try and communicate.

I'm also sorry for anyone catching stays or stress for ever being my friend or associated with me. You don't deserve it. My only ask is that no one harasses anyone that was associated with the opp channel or me.

Moving forward

I will leave commentary completely. I can not betray trust the way I have and stay. It is not right.

I have not decided if I keep doing content but if I do it’ll be after a long time and I will be doing things by myself.

If Falgi decides to continue anything I will not be a part of it. I can not handle it at all and I have hurt him with my actions as well. Trying to protect him became twisted into something gross and I have no excuses. I will not be around if he continues any type of content in the future.

Aside from some private talks the last thing I will be doing publicly is Slugs interview as a thank you for putting all the work into censoring dms and being kind. Then I’m staying offline for a long while in general since I can't be healthy with it.
Some of my socials I have already handed over to a trusted person to keep me off of them.

Thank you for reading.